NEH Awards $48,820 For Conference

The National Endowment for the Humanities has awarded Cal State $48,820 to hold a three-day conference on "Equality and the Constitution" for high school teachers. Thirty-five history teachers from public and private schools in Riverside and San Bernardino Counties will be chosen for the April 8-10 event.

Dr. James D. Thomas (Political Science) is coordinating the conference, which will feature nationally recognized scholars in constitutional law discussing and reacting to three broad topics: "The Concept of Equality in the Founding Period, 1776-1789," "The Concept of Equality in the Civil War and Reconstruction Periods" and "Present-Day Equal Protection Jurisprudence."

The grant will provide $250 stipends for the high school teachers, who will be the core participants for the conference. Invitations also will be extended to the public to attend various events, including an evening lecture by Gerald Gunther, professor of law at Stanford, who is "one of the biggest guns in the Constitutional law field," said Dr. Thomas.

Scholarship Provides Science Opportunities

Minorities and young women have a new opportunity to receive assistance to prepare for high technology fields within the computer, health and physical sciences.

More than 100 students from eight local high schools will be recruited to participate in a series of science-related workshops providing information on career opportunities, academic preparation and the availability of financial assistance at Cal State. As a means of encouraging and assisting students who indicate a strong interest in a particular field, tutor-mentors also will be hired to work with them throughout the academic year in preparatory course work.

Funded by a $5000 grant from Aetna Life and Casualty Foundation, the program, "Exploring Career Opportunities in Science Project," was designed to increase the number of underrepresented students entering technological fields. The project, sponsored by the Upward Bound Program, will provide opportunities to students who, while not necessarily economically disadvantaged, are in need of career guidance and encouragement to continue their post-secondary education.

According to George Martinez (Community Affairs), former Upward Bound director and designer of the program, students must be informed as early as possible of career opportunities, prerequisite academic preparation at the secondary level, appropriate post-secondary educational institutions and the availability and requirements for financial assistance. In addition, they must be encouraged through a network bridging the local high schools and the university.

The program is funded by the NEH's Conferences on the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution, in recognition of the forthcoming 200th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution.

Student Exhibit Shows Australian Travels

A collection of color photographs depicting the artist's travels through Australia will be exhibited in Gallery 2, Tuesday, Jan. 29 through Wednesday, Feb. 13.

A reception honoring the artist, Andrea Street of San Bernardino, will be held at 7 p.m., Wednesday, Jan. 30.

Ms. Street, who earned a master's degree in education in 1983 at Cal State, took the cibachrome color prints last August in New South Wales and Queensland, Australia. Many feature points of interest in Brisbane and Sydney.

"The colors are dramatic and appealing," she said. "They are a different kind of vacation pictures-- a different way of looking at things that you see when you travel." A kindergarten teacher at Morgan School in Rialto, Ms. Street is currently enrolled in her third year of photography classes here.

The photographs, displayed from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., Monday through Friday, will be for sale. Weekend hours are available by appointment.

Conference Set For Credential Candidates

Addressing the need to explore alternative methods of classroom management and discipline, a mini-conference, "Doors to Discipline," will be held Saturday, Feb. 2 for multiple subjects credential candidates.

Dr. Ellen Kronowitz (Education), conference coordinator, said eight workshops will be offered to teach the essentials of classroom management. "We are trying to meet a need that our students feel we have not met through course work," she explained. "Students want to know more about discipline."

Sponsored by the Multiple Subjects Program and the Multiple Subjects Advisory Committee, the free conference will be conducted by classroom teachers. Six workshops will be video taped and available in the Audio-Visual Center for students unable to attend the conference. More than 100 students are expected to attend.

Further information and reservations may be obtained by calling Dr. Kronowitz, Ext. 7778. The conference will be held from 8 a.m. to noon in PL 502.

Bookstore To Close

Faculty, staff and students are notified that the Bookstore will be closed Thursday, Jan. 31 and Friday, Feb. 1 for semi-annual inventory. Regular hours will resume Monday, Feb. 4.

Chamber Music Presented Sunday

An evening of chamber music will feature Johannes Brahms' "Trio in C Major," Sunday, Jan. 27 in the Recital Hall.

The piece, a series of subtle changes with a Hungarian "gypsy" flavor, will be performed by Carol Cheek, violin; Gwendolyn Lytle-Moors, soprano; Catherine Graff Mac Laughlin, cello; and Althea Waites, piano. The program will also include "Trio in A Flat Major" by Joseph Haydn and Beethoven's Scottish and Irish songs.

Ms. Cheek, a music instructor at Loma Linda University, the University of California, Riverside and Cal State, earned a master's degree from the University of Southern California. She has performed as both violinist and violist in numerous chamber music groups and has given concerts in the United States, Scandinavia and Jamaica.

Ms. Lytle-Moors, a member of the music faculty at Pomona College, earned a master's degree in voice at the New England Conservatory of Music and has performed in New York, Boston and San Francisco. She has been a participant in the summer American Institute of Musical Studies in Graz, Austria.

Mrs. Mac Laughlin graduated with honors from the University of California, Berkeley. She has performed in the Pablo Casals Master Class in Berkeley, the Tibor Varga Chamber Orchestra in Switzerland, the Hague Philharmonic Orchestra, the Netherlands Chamber Orchestra and the San Luis Obispo Mozart Festival Orchestra. She teaches at Cal State and the University of California, Riverside.

Ms. Waites, who has played extensively throughout the United States and Canada, is a chamber musician and accompanist. She made her professional debut with the New Orleans Philharmonic before she completed high school and has performed with the Yale Music Festival and the Aspen Music Festival and Choral Institute. Waites, who earned music degrees at Xavier University and the Yale School of Music, is currently director of the William Grant Still Community Arts Center in Los Angeles. She formerly taught at Cal State, San Bernardino.

Faculty And Students Kick Off College Bowl

The university will sponsor an intramural College Bowl tournament, a trivial-pursuit-like campus competition, Wednesday, Feb. 6 in the Student Union.

To kick off the tournament, a demonstration College Bowl match pitting the All-Star Faculty team against the Cal State Marketing Club will be held Wednesday, Jan. 30 from 8 to 9 p.m. in the SUMP.

Faculty will be represented by Drs. Robert Stein (Mathematics), Carl Wagoner (Criminal Justice), Keith Dolan (Education), Kent Schofield (History), Adria Klein, (Education), Edward Erler (Political Science) and Ted Gracyk (Philosophy). The Marketing Club, last year's Club of the Year, will field a team comprised of Tom Favorite, Greg Timpany, Mitch Slagerman, Don Bauman, Jack Vaughn and April Duke.

The game features two teams of four players each competing to score points to Toss-up and Bonus questions. The questions cover various subjects including literature, science, history, current events, religion, philosophy, art, mythology, music, drama, rock 'n roll, sports and film. The emphasis is on quick recall and entertainment for both players and the audience.

Students may register to participate in the campus tournament at the Student Union information desk until 5 p.m., Friday, Feb. 1.

Letter To Request Committee Volunteers

The Personnel Office is seeking volunteers to serve on campus committees. Letters will be sent to all full-time, permanent, probationary and temporary (on assignments longer than six months) employees as well as part-time, permanent employees.

Directed to employees willing to take a more active role in serving the university, the letter will ask for areas of interest which may be used in forming new committees or filling vacancies in existing committees. Personnel will maintain a master roster.

"This is a mechanism whereby people with interest in serving on committees can make their interests and abilities known to us," said Dale West (Personnel). Employees are requested to fill in the bottom portion of the letter and return to the Personnel Office as soon as possible.

Submissions Sought For Valentine Contest

Faculty, staff and students are invited to enter a valentine contest sponsored by the Uni Phi Club and the Services to Students with Disabilities Office.

Original creations, judged in categories of most beautiful and most humorous, are due by noon, Friday, Feb. 8. Voting will take place Feb. 11-13 and the winners will be announced Thursday, Feb. 14. Winners will receive a box of valentine candy. Valentines should be taken to the SSD Office, PL 107.

Professional Activities

Michael Burgess (Library) has published his 29th book, The Work of Jeffrey M. Elliot: An Annotated Bibliography and Guide, in December.

Dr. Mildred Henry (Education) presented a paper, "Reentry: Special Problems of Black Females," at the Black Studies Conference at Loyola Marymount University, Jan. 11-13.

The latest book by Dr. Fred Jandt (Communication), Win-Win Negotiating: Turning Conflict into Agreement, has been published by John Wiley and Sons. Co-author for the book is Paul Gillette, screenwriter and author of Play Misty for Me.

Dr. Larry McFatter (Music) spoke to the San Bernardino Branch of the Music Teachers Association of California Jan. 7 on "Encouraging Young Music Students to Compose."

The fourth edition of General Chemistry: Principles and Modern Applications by Dr. Ralph Petrucci (Chemistry) was recently published by Macmillan. The text, available in a hardcover domestic edition and a paperback international edition, contains a 24-page section of color photographs. Most of the photos were taken by Carey Van Loon (Audio-Visual), some in collaboration with Dr. Arlo Harris (Chemistry). Accompanying the text will be a student's study guide, a laboratory manual, a solutions manual, an instructor's manual, a computerized test bank file and a set of overhead transparencies.

Community Service

Dr. Frances Coles (Criminal Justice) spoke to a business law class at Aquinas High School Jan. 7.

Dr. Chris Grenfell (Physical Education and Recreation) discussed "The History of Skiing" for the Redlands Morning Kiwanis Club Jan. 17.
